

Helping the Built Environment with TenderTap

The User :

Constructing Excellence in the North East aims to deliver improved industry performance resulting in a demonstrably better built environment in the North East of England.

Constructing Excellence is a unique bridge between industry, clients, government and the research community.

Constructing Excellence is a new single organisation governed by members with the involvement of other customers and stakeholders.

Constructing Excellence delivers three major business streams: major government programmes (principally under a contract with the DTI); membership programmes; and other commercial contracts.

The Need :

Constructing Excellence in the North East identified a need to provide their members with an efficient way of researching tendering opportunities, which would save time and cost to their members. Their also wanted a way to support collaboration between their members.

The Solution :

Constructing Excellence in the North East had heard of the success of Service Networks' Marketplace, which is powered by TenderTap. They felt that their members could also find value from the service.

The CENETENDERS facility has been incorporated into the overall membership offering and is used by nearly 60 members on a very regular basis. TenderTap has added value to the service offered by Constructing Excellence in the North East to their members.

Constructing Excellence in the North East use the TenderTap facility to help their members to achieve sustainability on a social, economic and environmental level, but also to keep their members aware of the latest opportunities not only on a national or international level, but also at a regional level as well. Members can access the opportunities either via the CENETENDERS web site, or by the daily newsletter sent by email on a daily basis.

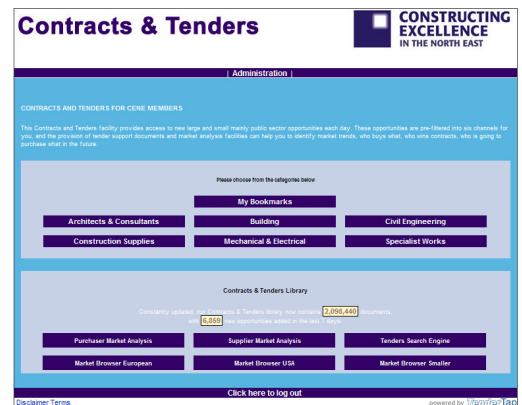

Members have access to the exclusive Contracts & Tenders library where they have the ability to identify business sector trends dating back to 1999. Some of the smaller member organisations, have found the Supplier Market Analysis facilities invaluable for finding sub-contract opportunities.

The CENETENDERS web site is available at www.cenetenders.co.uk.

Catriona Lingwood, Regional Director of Constructing Excellence says ...
